The Ex-Senator Laughs Over a Delicate Missive in His Mail. A Detroit special says : Yesterday ex-Senator Jones received a letter which illustrates the close kinship of sympathy and the tender passion. It was a delicate missive and emitted the faint odor of blooming violets. It was written by a woman in Illinois. She had heard of ex-Senator Jones, and the story of his trouble had wrung her susceptible soul. His towering intellect and marked ability had long been the object of her admiration. Her heart went out to him in the days of his affliction, and then came the evidence of that noble self-sacrifice of which a woman is capable. She did not suggest man is capable. She did not suggest merself as an ever-ready comforter in the midst of the ex-Senator's troubles, but she had a friend. This friend was wealthy, and her abundance of this world's goods was amply sufficient to smooth the pathway of the deposed statesman during the rest of his allotted time. She would be delighted should he open a correspondence with her he open a correspondence with her.

There the modest suggestion ended, but the inviting vista of golden opportunities opened was as clear as this charming day that ushers in the winter. The ex-Senator was amused. He laughed a laugh as cheery as a school-boy's. He never answered such letters and he paid no attention to them, and in this positive avowal was a suggestion that the stalwart ex-statesman was not a stranger to the mysterious ways of the weak.r

Durham proposes having a 15,000-spindle cotton-mill—the largest in the btate. It is said that the capital stock will be secured in a few days.

Mrs. Alfred W. Brooks, one of the eleven women who swore in their votes at the last election in Cattleville, this county, has been indicted. Hers will be a real so indicted for urging on the women at the polls. It is probable that they will be arraigned at this term of the Supreme Court.

at 4% o'clock P. M., I will sell by auction, on the premises, the VERY VALUABLE PROPERTY above referred to, situated on the west side of Eighth street between Main and Franklin. Being close to Main street, in the very centre of the town, and on an important cross-street, this opportunity to purchase a property with so much, merit, present and prospective, should not be slighted. Jot 64380 feet. N. W. BOWE. By virtue of a decree of the Chancery Court of Richmond entered November 10, 1887, in the autt of "Pretiow vs. Congdon and ala," we will sell by public acction, on the premises, on TUESDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1887, I EBMS: At sale,

TUENDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1887,
at 1 o'clock P. M., the CENTRALLY-IGCATED AND EXTRAOROINARILY-VALUABLE LARGE LOT, with the sheds, &c., thereon, located at the corner of Canal and Seventh streets, being a part of Tanner & Delaney's old shops. This lot fronts 110 feet 10 inches and runs back about 130 feet to the factory of Mr. Thomas C. Williams.
And immediately after the above sale we will sell a LOT in rear of the electric-motor plant fronting 63 feet? inches on an alley 8 feet wide leading out into Seventh street, with a depth of 50 feet, and salpoining and north of the place first mentioned. PRUSTEE'S SALE OF LOTS IN corner of Canal and Seventh streets, being a part of Tanner & Delancy's old shops. This let fronts 110 feet 10 inches and runs beek about 139 feet to the factory of Mr. Thomas C. Williams. And timediately after the above sale we will sell a LOT in rear of the electric-motor plant fronting 33 feet 7 inches on an aliety 8 feet wide leading out into Seventh street, with a depth of 50 feet, and adjoining and north of the please first mentioned.

Than those there are no more valuable lots for manufacturing purposes in the city of Richmond, and the lot at the corner of Canal and Seventh streets would be a fine site for a hole, being right at the Union depot. Remember, too, that large lots in the heart of the town are hard to find, and that this one is extra well located.

TERMS: One fourth for more at option of the purchaser; in cash; residue at six, twelve, and eighteen months for notes, with interest added, and titles retained, or all cash at the election of the buyer.
